At the forefront of technology and manufacturing innovation, BoingTech's on-metal RFID labels for cosmetics and other high-volume consumables with metallic packaging are the industry's new benchmark for performance and affordability. Supplied in rolls, these labels are compatible with automated print-and-apply processes to minimize encoding and application costs. For asset inventory, work-in-process tracking or even the tagging of metallic consumables, BoingTech has set a new benchmark for on-metal printable labels
